

W. F. WALTON.

It is absolutely disgusting to read the proceedings of the late republican convention at Louisville. The grand stand performances of the leaders, Taylor's play for sympathy and the participation of such detestable renegades and sell outs as Bill Yost, Tallow Dick Knott and others of their ilk are enough to make one blush for humanity. It must have been fearfully pathetic to see Taylor, his wife and seven children march down the aisle and to have seen him afterwards do the crocodile act as Bradley told of the alleged outcra that had been inflicted on him. We opine, however, that if Taylor did really shed tears it was because of his own sins and not that of others towards him. Remorse comes to every conscience no matter how dwarfed and seared, and Taylor must have experienced such a moment as he thought of the grand man sent to his untimely grave by his confederates. All the scenes connected with the fearful tragedy, doubtless rushed to his mind and he saw again the bleeding and dying victim of the foulest political conspiracy of the century. He remembered how he shielded the assassin, by preventing a search of the building occupied by himself and the other conspirators, how he "pardoned" men suspected of the crime and attempted to spirit them away disguised as soldiers and protected by a squad sworn to take them to the mountain fastnesses and of how he did other divers and sundry deeds that made the angels weep. No wonder he cried. A savage could not recall such acts and not shed tears. Well might Taylor exclaim, "Oh miserable man that I am, who will deliver me from the body of this death."

The speeches of those arch traitors, Yost and Knott, pledging their support and allegiance added to the farce-comedy of the whole business, which will be remembered only with disgust. The republican party is sliding down the toboggan to hades and with such welpits as the two named, Breckinridge, Brown, Bruce and others, will soon land with a dull thud at the bottom.

HERE are some choice excerpts from Senator Deboe's remarks while presiding in the republican convention at Louisville: "The convention will set down and be quiet." "I'll not recognize no man until he takes his seat." "It is now moved and seconded that the election of Gov. Taylor and Gov. Bradley be elected unanimously." "You ain't got no right to monkey with Clay county, if you ain't no delegate, and so on and so on. This will do pretty well for the 'per diem, per day' senators, whose ignorance and stupidity have made him famous. Strange to say he didn't even take a short nap, as is his custom in the Senate chamber, but sat through the entire evening, with eyes wide open and green with envy to see his arch enemy triumph over him and regain the leadership of the party.

GOV. BRADLEY has again resumed his leadership of the Kentucky republicans. He was the "Big I Am" of the convention, and is now regarded as the "Moses" of the party. Great efforts are being brought to bear to have him become the candidate for governor, but he declines all overtures to that end. For awhile it looked like the bottom rail was on top, but brains out, weighed intestines in the race for supremacy and Bradley comes to his own again, almost without effort. He will head the delegation to the National convention and dish out Federal pie, while Deboe plays a very weak second fiddle.

WRITING of the term "Goebelinism," as offensively used by enemies of the great leader, Mr. Waterson turns his attention in Saturday's Courier Journal to the class of cattle whodolight in it, and after flaying them alive, pays the highest eulogium to Gov. Goebel, whom he characterizes "as an honest man, a brave and loyal man and a clear, sober, courageous, hard-working, public-spirited man." Such a man indeed was Goebel. His maligners are not worthy to take his name in the sin polluted lips.

THE republicans said not a word about the assassination in their platform, but Gov. Bradley succeeded after much opposition in getting the following resolution adopted: "We unqualifiedly denounce the assassination of Senator Goebel and pledge ourselves to assist in the detection and the conviction of the assassin." The loud cheering which greeted the reading of the resolution showed how the republicans sympathize with assassination.

GOV. BRADLEY said in his convention speech that with Yost and others whom he named, who had deserted the democratic party, all the brains had departed from it. Nay, nay, Mr. Vice President, you mistake the matter. It is evidently g— that you mean, especially in the case of Yost.

THE Louisville Dispatch, which subsides only by stirring up strife and making assassination possible, cries out in its editorial to the Courier Journal's ap— "There is no peace." Of course as long as the subsidized organs of political trust can raise a row.

THE Ovation Herald, edited by the old Confederate, who used to be as lively as he now does, has enlarged to a six-column broad-spreadsheet improved. It is a credit to any man who saved his tears.

OUR dispatches tell of the decision of the supreme court in favor of the democrats. The court held as all good lawyers said it would that it had no jurisdiction, denied the writ of error and dismissed the appeal. Justice Harlan, of Kentucky, dissented to the opinion, which was handed down by Chief Justice Fuller. Justice McKenna agreed in the conclusion, but dissented from the reasoning and Justices Brewer and Brown held that the court had jurisdiction and affirmed the decision of the Kentucky court. Harlan's opinion reads more like a republican stump speech than a legal document. Taylor was very much depressed on receiving the news, but soon rallied and ordered Gen. Collier to dismiss his soldiers and turn his office over to Gov. Beckham. The Frankfort democrats went wild with delight and later many of them marched to Goebel's tomb and deposited flowers thereon. All the courts have decided for the democrats. Now let us have peace.

THE LATEST.

LOUISVILLE, May 21, 1 P. M.—Beckham wins before the supreme court. The Kentucky court of appeals is sustained. C. D. Republicans at Washington are said to have laughed over the lachrimose account of Taylor's performance before the convention at Louisville and one is reported to have said: "He'll have plenty of chance to weep before the State of Kentucky gets through with him, and if there is any truth in the statements of his confederates he will have cause to weep to some purpose."

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Bradley has worked himself back to the head of the republican party of Kentucky, and goes to the National convention at the head of the delegation, with an endorsement for vice president, while Deboe is left at home. Those who were damping him a year ago are now bowing down to him. He has made many of them eat dirt—Owensboro Messenger.

The following will go as delegates from the 8th district to the Philadelphia convention: D. R. Collier, of Garrard, and Thos. J. Ballard, of Anderson; alternates, John Ballard, of Shelbyville, and Jesse Kincheloe, of Spencer. From the 11th J. A. Coleman, of Pulaski, and John B. Hurst, of Harlan; alternates, D. C. Edmunds, of Laurel, and T. S. Scott, of Cumberland.

The presidential elector chosen for this district is J. T. McClintock, of Madison, and M. A. Holcomb for the 11th.

The republican State central committee was reorganized: C. M. Barrett was re-elected chairman and R. L. Gwathmey succeeds K. J. Hampton as secretary. Judge J. H. Tinsley was elected vice chairman. Col. R. F. Buckner was re-elected treasurer.

FREIGHT comes high now. A. C. Sine received two car loads of lumber, one from Alabama and one from Nashville, on which the freight was $170.00.

Ab Maple, Sam Kirkirk and Robert Burner were arrested at Harrodsburg. They are said to belong to a band of chicken thieves that extends through Mercer, Boyle, Lincoln and other counties, and that the gang has stolen and marketed 5,000 chickens the past five months.

MANY THANKS.—The Advocate congratulates its contemporary, the INTERIOR JOURNAL, on the evidence of prosperity displayed by its appearance last Friday in an enlarged form. Editor Walton has just installed a new press and promises the patrons of the I. J. that hereafter they shall receive, regularly, a paper as big and as good as the first edition from the new press.—Danville Advocate, 21st.

The Somerset Journal says that Jas. Farmer is in great distress over the disappearance of his son, on April 23rd 1st, from Gettysburg College, in company with Edward Clements, of Pittsburg, Kas. The boy is named Luke, is 12 years of age and large and heavy for his age; has dark brown hair, blue eyes; clothing marked with full name. Information of his whereabouts will be gladly received by his parents at Somerset.

PUBLIC SALE OF

A Fine Boyle Co. Farm.

Thursday, June 7, 1900

At 10 o'clock, A. M., I will offer at public sale my farm of 250 acres, three and one-half miles from Hustonville, Ky., on the Lexington pike. The improvements consist of one two-story brick house of seven rooms and kitchen, hall, front and back porches, good dry cellar under entire front of house, storeroom, number of closets, all necessary outbuildings, barn, carriage house, shops, sheds for machinery, granary, corn crib, ice house, coal house, good orchard, grapes, garden, swimming pool, etc. Also a large yard shaded by forest trees. The place is well watered, with cistern at house and at barn. Forty acres are in blue-grass, 50 are sown in timothy and clover, 50 in wheat, 4 in melons and 20 in oats, balance in corn.

The farm is divided by a country road, 185 acres with improvements on one side and 65 acres on the opposite side. It will be sold separately or together, whichever way brings the best price. Crops will be sold to purchaser if desired, and possession given at any time. It is in a good neighborhood with good school on the place.

At the same time and place I will sell several good mares and horses, some No. 1 hiders, almost new, new mowers, wheat drill, corn planter, all good; plows, cultivators, lot hot-bed sash, and other things too numerous to mention. Persons desiring to inspect the premises are invited to call.

TERMS.—One-third cash, balance in one and two years at six per cent. interest. Lunch served at 12 o'clock. J. W. LITTLE, T. D. English, Auctioneer.
